Collaborative Activities for the IPSI

SATOYAMAイニシアティブ国際パートナーシップ協力活動

(a) Enhance understanding and raise awareness of the importance of socio-ecological production landscapes for livelihoods and the three objectives of the Convention

Cluster 1	Knowledge Facilitation	Collecting, analyzing, synthesizing and comparing case-studies, and distilling lessons learned for dissemination through a searchable online database and other means, and for use in capacity-building activities
Cluster 2	Policy Research	Undertaking research on ways and means to (i) promote wisdom, knowledge and practice which enables us to enjoy a stable supply of diverse ecosystem services, (ii) build bridges for inter-cultural communication between traditional ecological knowledge systems and modern science; (iii) explore a “New Commons” or new forms of co-management while respecting traditional communal land tenure where necessary, (iv) revitalize and innovate socio-ecological production landscapes (v) integrate results in policy and decision-making processes
Cluster 3	Indicator Research	Developing measurable indicators of resilience associated with linkages between human well-being and the socio-ecological production landscape mosaic, including linkages between wild and anthropogenic components of landscape and ecosystems; and applying these indicators to contribute to the implementation of the Ecosystem Approach

(b) Support and expand, where appropriate and as part of the implementation of the post 2010 Strategic Plan, socio-ecological production landscapes, building on activities (a)

Cluster 4	Capacity Building	Enhancing capacities for maintaining, rebuilding and revitalizing socio-ecological production landscapes, including through regional capacity-building workshops
Cluster 5	On-the Ground Activities	Provide support for on-the-ground projects and activities to maintain, rebuild and revitalize socio-ecological production landscape
